SKETCHES BY SEYMOUR.

EX LIBRIS
FRANK·BREWER·BEMIS·
"Three things to me
God lends,
Old Place, old books, old friends."

Ex Libris
JOHN AND MARTHA DANIELS

Galanty Show!

Yes, Marm. I knows the Old 'un used to get the better of the Baker, but the Gunman vot does our slides always makes the Baker get the better of the Old 'un.

This is worry pleasant here if I doesent get cotched.

Published by G.S. Tregear, 96 Cheapside London

Not so Pleasant.

Holloa! here's some d—d rascal been stealing the fish this evening, if I catch him, I'll break every bone in his skin.

Published by G.S. Tregear 36 Cheapside London.

Anticipation.

You see that white cottage in the moonlight just there behind that mawe a trout of two pounds down by those poplars are some capital chub holes and in the middle deeps of a morning the great Barbel lay rolling in the sunshine like so many beer barrels

Published by C.S. Fraser 96 Cheapside London

Och Shin Paddy what's the botheration, if you carry maydeus I carry the whiskey sure and that's fair and equal

Published by G S Tregear 96 Cheapside London

The Club

President singing His wife she bit off half her tongue
But not a sad disaster,
The other half more active rang
And scolded all the faster.

Published by G.S Fraser, 96 Cheapside, London

Gent the 1st word A small portion of Veal and Ham, well done!
Waiter (in a voice of thunder) Plate o weal, an' dam well done.

Published by G S Tregear. 96 Cheapside London

At a Concert.

Stop Thief, Stop Thief.

Published by C. S Tilt 86 Chancery Lane London

A leap in the dark

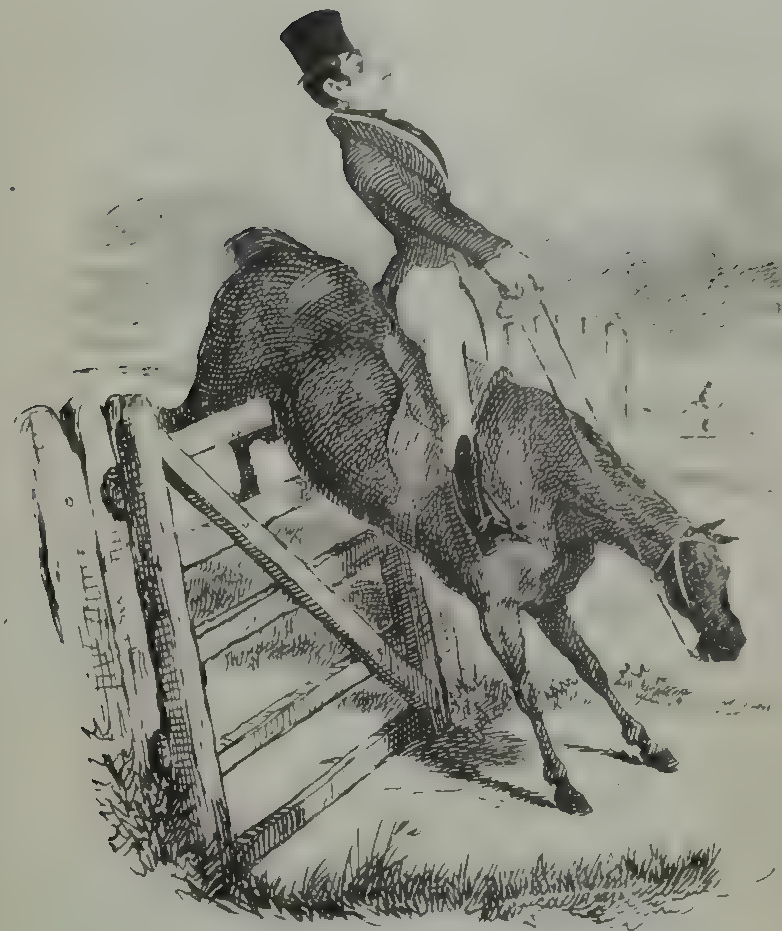

Published by T.S. Duncan 91 Cheapside London

Sketches by Seymour

Hark you there is the hounds this way my good man Hounds!
Dogs, I means You know what a pack of hounds is are dont you

Published by C S Tregear 96 Cheapside London

This ass hasnt learnt to climb over the stiles well and I wont have him again

Published by G S Tregear 96 Cheapside London

Just as he had with inevitable grace lifted his hat to salute the ladies, the horse went on his knees and deposited the beau in a puddle at their feet.

Published by E.S Tregear 96 Cheapside London

Old Woman Act make a dinner of Hotchpotch ... dainty dog Wash you may never have a worse
Plough boy! Noa mother, I hopes I never shall

Published by G. S. Tregear 96 Cheapside ...

Sketches by Seymour.

No 15 Vol 4

Better luck next time.

Published by G S Tregear 96 Cheapside London

Now youre lend us your gun, you may as well lend us your watch. I cant shoot any thing for you till I sees vots o clock.

Published by G.S. Tregear 36 Thavies Inn London

Here's two gals a comin Ocrikey, wont I make em jump.

Published by G S Tregear, 96 Cheapside London

All right, here we goes!

Published by C S Tregear. 96 Cheapside London

Sketches by Seymour.

N°19 Vol 4

Shooting from a bank.

Published by G S Ingall 96 Cheapside London

Vy, if these ere Ducks will snap at our bacon, we can't help it can we Jim?
Oh no to be sure, we only trys for some Ashes

Published by C. S. Prigeon 96 Cheapside London

Have you caught anything, Sir?
No not yet I have been trying above four hours

Published by I. S. Ingram 96 Cheapside London

Shoot away Bill never mind the old Woman she can't get over the wall to us

Published by C S Tregear 96 Cheapside London

Ho hoy boat help help get me way from dat

Published by G.S. Francis

№ 24 – Vol 4

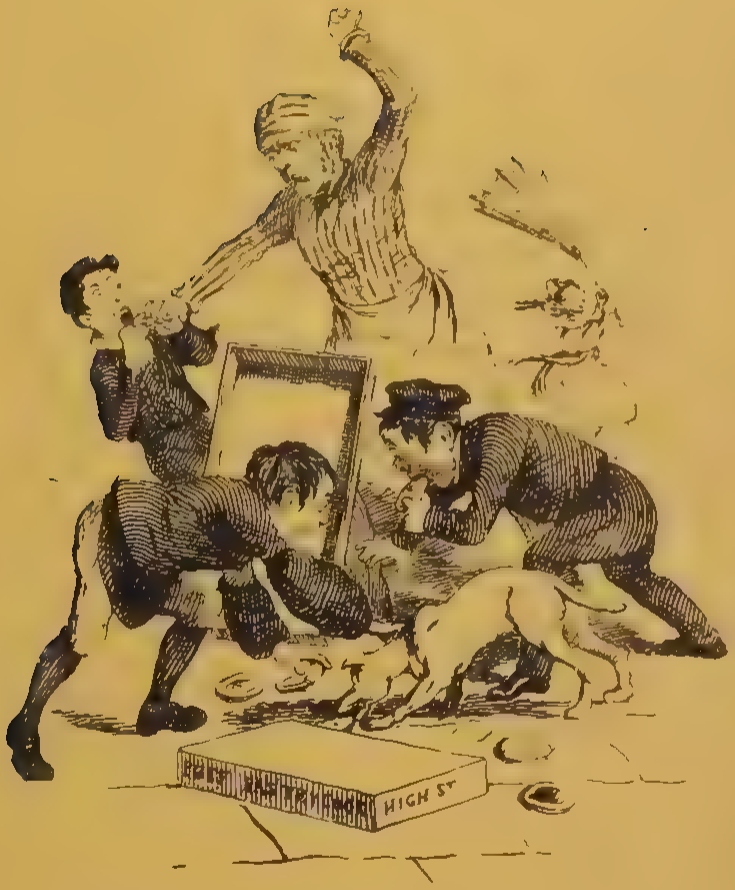

I'm a going a sporting tour through North Wales to see if I can get amongst the mountains, and if I sees a neagle I shall shoot him – if not in the valleys I'll be sure to get him if there are any on the hills. I shall catch em and if I do I'll have a dish prepared in the Published as the Times directs.

This Mill makes a plaguey hammering

Published by G S Tregear 96 Cheapside London

A scramble for puff pastry, puff'd down by a puff of high wind

Published by G S Fryer 96 Chiapside London

Turnpike man / You should have gone home the way you came with that ticket won't do here so out with your coppers three pence.

Cockney I does'nt think I've got any halfpence!

Turnpike man / Well then I must give you change

Cockney / But I'm afeard I have'nt got any silver left I say master couldn't you trust me I'd be verry sure to bring it to you.

Published by G S Tregear 94 Cheapside London

You neednt be afraid Sir I am not haming at you

Published by G S Frazier 38 Cheapside London

Bob arnt you glad you aint a Black smoor ?
I should think so they're such ugly warmints Masters
daughter wots come from boarding school says the sight
of em is enough to frighten one into convulsions !!

Published by G. S. Tregear 96 Cheapside London

A Slight Mistake.

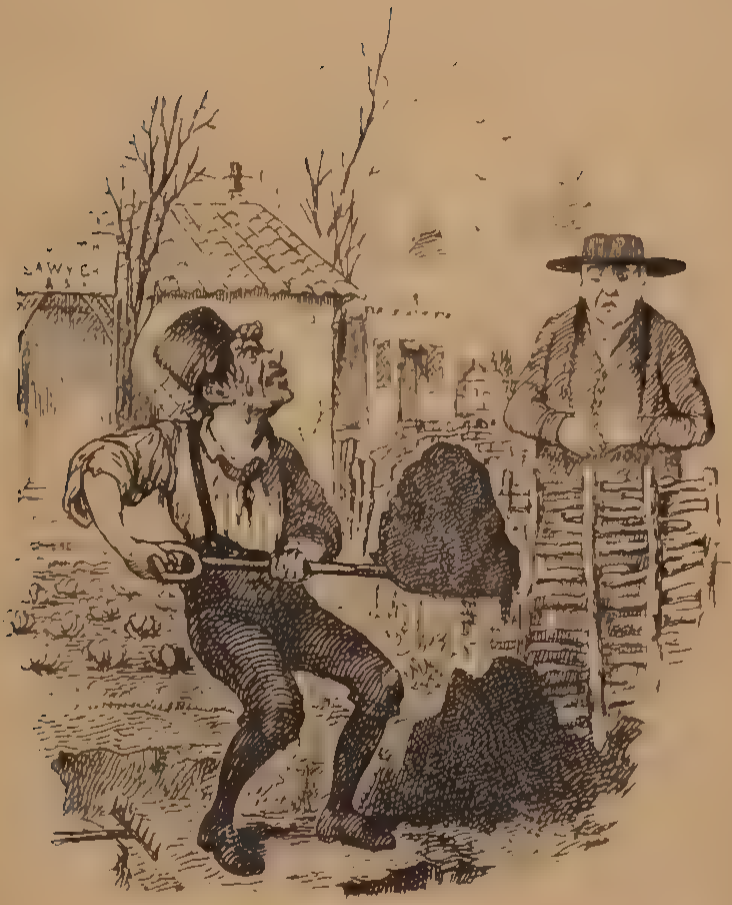

Pol dye set your great dog at my little un sir!

Published by S Ingram 71 Cheapside London

Jem set open the door and winder, and let the neighbours smell ve has something respectable for once

Published by G S Ingear. 96 Cheapside London

By sir, our Labours hard all the week and on Sundays likes a little gardening recreation

Published by J. S. Jervis, St Chapside 1790

Only three holidays left and still this plaguey glass says very red I can't bear it I can't, and I won't.

Published by G.S. Tregear 96 Cheapside London

More birds my kettle fit low well don't hurry me don't hurry me
I make a point of doing everything with the greatest deliberation

Published by Tegg 46 Cheapside London

Oh aw my horses cs sur as you say they want nun looking after they beesmans quiet and knows their way to cs stans

Published by C. S. Fraser 36 Thavies Inn London